A Good Place For Him.

What are we going to do with Roosevelt? is the question that has been asked from one end of the country to the other. It has been suggested that he should become almost everything, all the way from a United States Senator to a sort of peripatetic peace promoter. No sane solution has been offered hitherto, even Cabot Lodge does not know what to do with "my dear Theodore." But this problem, which has forced many a statesman to take to his cups, is solved at last, we hope, by the United States Civil Service Commission. The commission has just sent out an announcement that there is a vacancy in the high and responsible office of Zoology Cataloguer, and the well known faunal naturalist of Sagamore Hill is the very man for the job. He would be in his own peculiar element in the Smithsonian Institution, where now are trophies of his African chase, the kirkak-dik, the geyastous bird, and the oscowhangdoodle.

STAGGERS SKEPTICS.

That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or pile, staggers skeptics. But great cures prove its a wonderful healer of the worst sores, ulcers, boils, felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it. See at S. E. McGuckey.

Million in It.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock's official advisers are predicting a big boom in the postal-bank business. Once the system is in full operation they say, there will be no less than 10,000,000 depositors.

The total number of savings-bank depositors in 1909 in the United States was 8,831,863, over a million less than the Postmaster General expects to attract to the Federal Government's counters. Where are they to come from and will they come?

Still, it is a delightful prospect to think of 10,000,000 people insisting that the Government shall take charge of their savings. There will not be any more trouble then about finding a market for Government bonds. Congress can authorize an issue of $500,000,000 for waterways, and another of $500,000,000 for a big navy, and another of $500,000,000 for any other purpose, and the postal-bank depositors will be waiting in line to get them. Why not build another isthmian canal?

Ten million postal-bank depositors, Postmaster-General Hitchcock calculates, means 10,000,000 new pass books, 80,000 to 100,000 new ledgers for the accounts and no fewer than 4,000 new Government bookkeepers to work on the accounts. Think of the contracts for paper, printing and binding! Think of the jobs—over ten for each Congressional district! Think of the appropriations! How could anybody ever have objected to postal banks?

President Taft names a negro collector of customs at Washington. There are several departmental clerks in the employ of our government who are reported as being disqualified to hold their positions longer owing to their age. To some of us down in Florida it seems that the president might have selected one of these down and out white clerks for this lucrative position. The office requires little ability and surely there are poor white people in this country just as deserving of the position as a rich negro.

Nurse Says:

"I know what is good for young and old people," writes Mrs. Clara Dykstra, a trained nurse of South Bellingham, Wash., "and will say that I consider Cardui the best medicine for girls and women. It makes them feel like new persons, relieves their pain and regulates womanly troubles. Both my daughter and I received great benefit."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

As a medicine for female trouble, no medicine you can get has the old established reputation, that Cardui has. Fifty (50) years of success prove that it has stood the greatest of all tests—the test of TIME. As a tonic for weak women, Cardui is the best, because it is a woman's tonic. Pure, gentle, safe, reliable. Try Cardui.

The Southerner and Corn.

The southerner feeds himself, his pigs and his progeny upon corn. He slept in his frontiersman's cabin upon a matress made of the husks. Today he contributes some of its girth to the manufacture of gun cotton with which to blow the enemy to Bedlam and some more of it to the manufacture of cellulose to park behind the armor of his country's battleships to prevent them from sinking when projectiles pierce their plates. He plants corn as early in the springtime as the season will permit and gets up at dawn to go into the fields and tickle its spreading roots with a double shovel plow. In midwinter he smokes his corncob pipe before a corncob fire. Looking into a bed of glowing embers through a blue haze of the smoke of incense burned to Mondamin, he returns thanks for the cornmeal in the cupboard and dreams happily of the "ros's ear" of the golden summer to come. His appreciation of the value of Indian corn is high. His affection for it in its various forms is abiding.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Argyll and Longfellow.

The great Duke of Argyll was visiting his son, then governor general of Canada, and met Longfellow in the American poet's ancient colonial mansion at Cambridge, Mass. As they sat together on the veranda the duke persistently asked the names of the various birds he saw and heard singing in the poet's trees as well as of the flowers and bushes growing in his extensive and beautiful garden. Longfellow was neither botanist nor ornithologist and did not know.

"I was surprised to find your Longfellow such an ignorant person," said the duke subsequently to an American acquaintance.

"Indeed! Pray, on what subject?"

"Why, he could not tell me the names of the birds and flowers to be heard and seen in his own garden."

"May I ask how many languages you speak?" the American asked.

"Certainly—but one."

"Mr. Longfellow," was the answer, "speaks six and translates freely from almost all the languages of Europe."

Necessity of Air Baths.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. Any one suspected of neglecting a daily bath would quickly find himself persona non grata in decent society. It is popularly supposed that frequent bathing is essential to health. This is quite untrue. Much of the benefit attributed to the water is in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air. The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance, and although water may be dispensed with, clothing the pores to air would result in speedy degeneration.—New York Medical Journal.

THE BEST HOUR OF LIFE.

It is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. E. Pitt, of Rocky Mt., N. C., when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had. I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful Cold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like this. It is the surest and best remedy for colds, coughs, hoarseness, laryngitis, asthma, hay fever, any chronic lung trouble, etc. $1.00. Total bottle free. Guaranteed by S. E. McGuckey.

FARMERS

An Agricultural Fair

will be held in Chipley this fall, and on you, to a very large extend, depends its success.

Every farmer in Washington, Jackson and Holmes counties is requested to plant something especially, or to collect an exhibit from his farm, to bring to the fair.

No country on earth can beat this particular section, if you will put forth just a little extra effort. Won't you do it?

The Cattle and Hog raisers and Chicken fanciers are also requested, yes urged, to get their favorites ready for the fair.

The premiums in every department will be just as liberal as the mean of the Fair managers will permit.

Here's a Good Slogan for a Bigger and Better Business.

DON'T BLOCK THE WAY!

Move as fast as the procession—or move out. Take the pace of the company you are in or make way for the man behind.

Don't stand in the way of new ideas. Don't pause in the path of better system. Don't settle down on the ladder of success. Don't be a barnacle on the ship of progress.

Change means progress. Progress means advancement

Advancement means movement. Move!
